We now use more boards to register and certificate qualifications. More of City and Guilds examinations are now going on line, we can download student's results within minutes of them finishing their examination, but the work for the examinations team is considerably more than if they did paper tests, also we are reliant on the computer system. These examinations all have to run in accordance to board rules and regulations, if students need readers and extra time we must know well in advance as this takes a considerable time to arrange.
